

Samantha has a few assignments due today

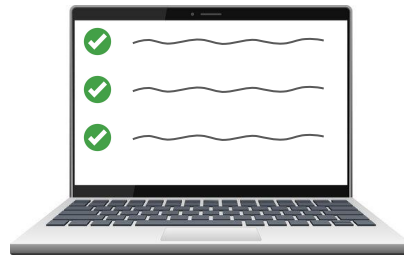

Some of her assignments are on blackboard while others are on dropbox. She can't figure out which assignment she should prioritize.

Instead of switching between both websites, she opens the assignment manager app

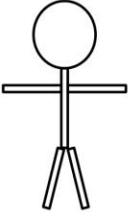

She is able to see all of her upcoming assignments and their descriptions in one screen. She can also submit them through the single app.

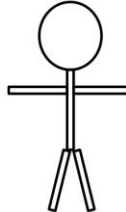

Samantha submits all of her assignments on time with less stress!

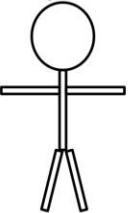

Servers went down overnight, so I need to figure out what the problem is.

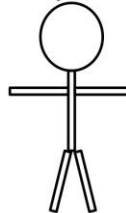

Seems like the servers are on, but I'll do a quick restart and check if the new site update got pushed.

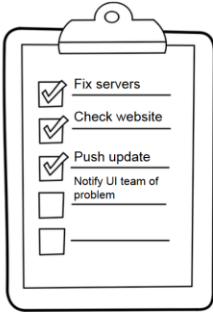

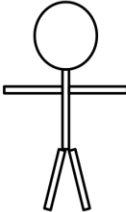

Looks the website is up and running now. However, the update didn't get pushed. I'll see if I can push it.

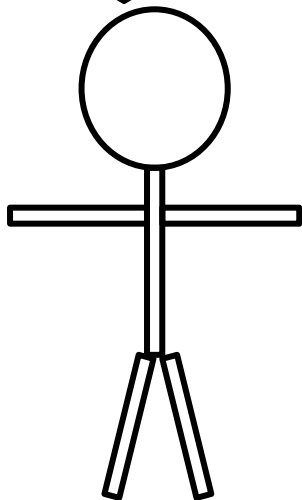

Update looks good, except looks like the new calendar tab isn't working. I'll have to remember to let the UI team know.

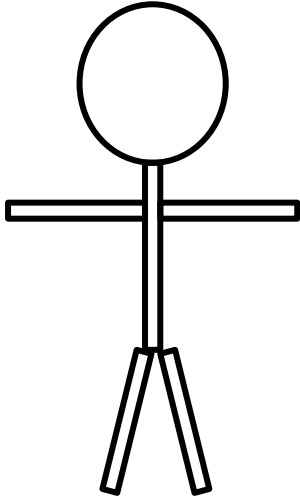

Alright, looking good. Might take a break for my tuna sandwich now.

Wow, I am done my math homework!
That was so easy! Now let me go to Blackboard to submit it.

Submitting an assignment

Where even is my math class? It is so difficult to submit my assignments! This site is so complicated for no reason.

It was so easy to submit! Now I have free time to go play volleyball.

Submission success!

Oh! I just got an email notification on my phone from EduLearn that my professor gave me a 19 out of 20 on my math homework! That was very convenient to find out so easily, as I am walking campus.
